

Write a Sea-Chanty Verse & Win Two Tickets to Tour Providence

Put on your sailor cap and try your hand at writing a verse or two of your own for the sea-chanty Heave Away, Me Johnny. The verse can be about anything, listen to Heave Away, Me Johnny. The Tall Ship Providence Foundation will give away two tour tickets to the person who makes Captain John Paul Jones and A.B. Barlow laugh. Post your verses using #tallshiptuesdays.

Heave Away, Me Johnny

*There's some that's bound for New York town
And others 'is bound for France*

Farewell to you me Kingston's girls, Farewell St. Andrew's dock

*Heave away, me Johnny
Heave away*

*Heave away, me Johnny
Heave away*

*And some that's bound for the Bengal Bay
To teach them French to dance*

*If ever we come back again
We'll make the cradles rock*

*Heave away, me Johnny boy
We're all bound to go*

*Heave away, me Johnny boy
We're all bound to go*

*Our pilot he is awaiting for
The turning of the tide*

*And when we're homeward bound again
Our pockets filled with store*

*Heave away, me Johnny
Heave away*

*Heave away, me Johnny
Heave away*

*And then me girls will be gone again
With a fair and westerly wind*

*We'll spend it with them pretty girls
Then go to sea once more*

*Heave away me, Johnny boy
We're all bound to go*

*Heave away, me Johnny boys
We're all bound to go*
